

This represents a very basic yet functional website used for a Personal Chef Service. You can greatly expand on this, but be careful not to build a monster. Nobody likes to be stuck in a website unable to go where they want. Additional pages to the very basic may include a “policy” page and/or a “testimonial” page (or media articles).

Your completed website should have the easy ability to get from any page to any other page, through a navigational bar or menu. People like to bounce around or go back to re-read information.

A Google/Bing/Yahoo/MSN search for website samples or website templates will provide a wealth of ideas and layouts.
